

Presbyterian Counseling Center

March, 2011

CENTERPOINT

“A very present help in trouble . . .” (Psalm 46)

The staff of the Counseling Center seeks to touch individuals with God’s “very present help.”

Jonathan R. Kelley (Executive Director) is a Presbyterian minister and a North Carolina State Licensed Professional Counselor. Jonathan is psychoanalytically trained and provides “a very present help” by listening reflectively to what individuals and couples are truly expressing.

Ann C. Thacker (Clinical Director) is a North Carolina State Licensed Professional Counselor Supervisor. Ann has provided counseling and psychotherapy at the Presbyterian Counseling Center for 28 years to people seeking caring, compassionate help.

Susan B. York is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker/psychotherapist. Susan was in private practice in Jacksonville for nearly twenty years, serving the mental health needs of individuals, couples and families. She now sees clients at the Center’s satellite office in Hampstead.

Catherine C. Butler (Coordinator - Sam Mann Healing Partnership) holds a Masters degree in Counseling Psychology. She specializes in treating anxiety and depression particularly with those dealing with illness. She is also interested in couples/marital and family counseling.

Jenifer H. Phelps is a Nurse Practitioner board certified in psychiatry and mental health. She provides psychotherapy services to all ages, and is also authorized to prescribe and monitor psychiatric medications.

Sonya E. Leonard (Office Manager) joined the Center in 1994. Among Sonya’s many responsibilities are customer service, client information, overseeing operation of the office, and managing the Center’s bookkeeping and accounting.
